LIWP Multi-Family

Assessment Report

AB 1232 LIWP MULTI-FAMILY ASSESSMENT REPORT

INTRODUCTION

Pursuant to Government Code Section 12087.10, the California Department of Community Services and Development (CSD) is required to provide an assessment of the Low-Income Weatherization Program's (LIWP's) Multi-Family Energy Efficiency and Renewables program component (LIWP Multi-Family) that includes program outcome data related to rent increases, tenant displacement, and the condition of properties. This report is submitted in accordance with those requirements, and serves as a follow-up to the Assembly Bill \(AB\) 1232 Report and Action Plan, which was completed in January 2021 in accordance with Gov. Code Section 12087.9.

This report completes the department's requirements under Section 12087.9

The purpose of this report is to specifically address the following requirements under Gov. Code Section 12087.10, established by AB 1232 (Chapter 754, Statutes of 2019), related to the LIWP Multi-Family component:

The department, in coordination with relevant agencies, shall provide an assessment of the effectiveness of the program on or before January 1, 2023. The assessment shall contain all of the following:

- (a) A compilation of actual rates of rent increases and of tenant long-term relocation or eviction, for any reason, after energy upgrades received with the goal of better enforcing or adjusting affordability contracts and measures.
- (b) A summary of the total number of properties that are not regulated by deed restrictions or other legally binding provisions that are below market rate multifamily affordable housing participating in the program, the marketing and outreach efforts of the department or the appropriate administrator pursued for this market segment, and the reasons given for nonparticipation, if any.
- (c) In coordination with participating public health programs, a database of conditions found in homes that impact or could impact health negatively encountered when doing energy or health audits to track neighborhood hotspots and provide data for environmental screening and social determinants of health tools.

The LIWP Multi-Family component provides technical assistance and financial incentives to property owners for the installation of energy-efficiency measures and solar photovoltaic (PV) systems for low-income, multi-family properties in low-income and disadvantaged communities. These measures are designed to reduce residential energy demand and greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions. The low-income tenants residing in properties served by LIWP Multi-Family benefit from lower energy costs. The program also reduces property owner operating costs, which contributes to the preservation of affordable housing properties in low-income and disadvantaged communities.

Under Gov. Code Sections 12087.9 and 12087.10, CSD was required to compile two LIWP Multi-Family reports related to healthy home best practices and program outcomes. Pursuant to Section 12087.9, CSD collaborated with the California Energy Commission (CEC) and the California Department of Public Health's (CDPH's) Office of Health Equity to compile a report and action plan that identified best practices from model programs and funding mechanisms to deliver comprehensive energy and healthy home improvements to multi-family housing. This AB 1232 Report and Action Plan was completed in January 2021.

This second report examines the impact of LIWP project investments on health and safety improvements, social determinants of health, and energy savings. To complete this second report, CSD collaborated with CDPH to analyze health data and identify health and safety improvements within LIWP Multi-Family projects.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The LIWP Multi-Family program component was first launched in 2015 as an innovative approach to incentivize property owners to install GHG-reducing energy efficiency measures and solar PV systems for affordable housing. It was the first program in California that combined comprehensive whole-building energy efficiency retrofits with renewable solar PV improvements. LIWP Multi-Family provides technical assistance to property owners to identify and install feasible energy efficiency and solar PV upgrades and offers financial incentives that increase based on estimated GHG reductions and direct benefits to tenants through reduced energy bills and improved living conditions.

The energy efficiency measures supported by LIWP Multi-Family can include the electrification of heating systems (heat-pumps), HVAC upgrades, insulation, energy-efficient lighting, appliances (such as in-unit refrigerators and common area washers/dryers), and water heating, as well as other weatherization measures.

The financial structure of LIWP Multi-Family is designed to encourage property owners to invest in energy efficiency upgrades that can provide financial and wellness benefits to low-income tenants who face economic insecurity. By addressing the “split incentive” faced by property owners who are unwilling or unable to invest in the cost of energy efficiency improvements that accrue to the benefit of the tenant, and not the property owner, LIWP can realize energy savings and GHG reductions in existing multi-family housing that other programs may not.

As a result of this progressive and flexible program design, LIWP Multi-Family has been oversubscribed since its inception and continues to elicit strong interest from the affordable housing marketplace, with an extensive waitlist of properties that continue to seek funding.

A detailed description of the LIWP Multi-Family program design, energy efficiency measures, and financing structure can be found in the AB 1232 Report and Action Plan.

DATA COLLECTION OVERVIEW

Gov. Code Section 12087.10 and the provisions of AB 1232 went into effect on January 1, 2020. CSD subsequently incorporated data collection requirements consistent with Section 12087.10 into LIWP Multi-Family agreements with property owners newly enrolled in the program. Prior to this point in time, the program did not require property owners to track and collect rent and displacement data that would be responsive to the requirements of AB 1232. For properties whose participation in LIWP Multi-Family predated 2020, an effort was made to collect that information on a voluntary basis.

Since its inception in 2015, the LIWP Multi-Family program component has served 144 properties. Following the enactment of AB 1232, CSD initiated the collection of pre-construction and post-construction rent roll data from the properties that participated in the program from approximately 2016 to 2023. The data collected represented a total of 37 properties out of the 144 the program has served to date.

At the time of analysis, the 37 properties were in various reporting stages (i.e., entering the property assessment process, in project scope development, or actively undergoing construction activities). Six of the 37 properties were excluded from the analysis because of incomplete rent roll datasets from either pre- or post-construction.

As a result, this report highlights data collected at 31 properties with a complete dataset. The data offers a representative cross-section of projects participating in LIWP Multi-Family.

The data collection period (between rent roll start and end dates) varied among the properties. The rent roll data underwent normalization to address the inconsistency in data collection periods, adjusting values measured on different scales to a common scale. For instance, the shortest time frame was just under 0.6 years (212 days), while the longest extended to 5.1 years (1,853 days).

In instances where the rent roll data was collected over a period of less than one year, the rent increase/decrease represents that specific period. Conversely, for properties where the rent roll data covers more than one year, the variations in rent amounts reflect the increase/decrease over a period of one year.

DATA ANALYSIS

A. Compilation of Actual Rates of Rent Increases and Tenant Relocation

Gov. Code Section 12087.10(a)

A compilation of actual rates of rent increases and of tenant long-term relocation or eviction, for any reason, after energy upgrades received with the goal of better enforcing or adjusting affordability contracts and measures.

This section details the rent roll data gathered from 31 properties, offering a cross-section of projects within CSD's LIWP Multi-Family program component. The rent roll data indicates that most properties saw modest rent increases following LIWP Multi-Family funded upgrades. Of the 31 properties, 28 reported some level of rent increase, and three reported rent decreases. Eleven properties (35 percent of the total) witnessed increases in monthly rent charges for tenants under $10 a month. Eight properties (26 percent) reported increases in the range of $10.50 to $18.50 per month; three properties (10 percent) in the range of $23.50 to $27 per month; and five properties (16 percent) in the range of $34.50 to $99 per month. One property reported a rent increase of $200 per month. Conversely, three (10 percent) properties reported decreases in rent charges to residents ranging from approximately $8.00 to $12.00 per month.

Among the factors that may have impacted rental charges during the data collection period are changes in the area median income (AMI) and regional rental market conditions, vacancy rates, eviction moratoriums, and caps on rent control rate increases. Deed-restricted affordable housing limits monthly rent charges to a specific percentage of a tenant's monthly income. For tax-credit-funded housing, restrictions on rent are not tied to the tenant's individual income, but to the local median income, calculated annually by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. While affordability covenants restrict rent increases at deed-restricted affordable housing properties, these properties may regularly implement rent increases to manage rising costs due to inflation and other factors. Although LIWP relies on the inherent rent protections of multifamily housing classifications, these rent controls do not fully shield residents at LIWP-serviced properties from future increases in monthly rent charges.

CSD and the LIWP program remain committed to addressing the needs of low-income households, promoting services that encourage property-owner participation, and enhancing the energy efficiency and affordability of multifamily housing for low-income families.

Occupancy rates pre- and post-LIWP Multi-Family energy upgrades indicates that there was limited long-term displacement or relocation attributable to LIWP investments. Occupancy rate data for the 31 projects included in this assessment showed high post-LIWP occupancy rates. On average, buildings weatherized by LIWP maintained a 97 percent occupancy following the installation of LIWP measures. Notably, six projects (totaling 355 units) sustained a perfect 100 percent occupancy, while the lowest occupancy rate of 84 percent was documented at a project with 10 vacancies, comprising 16 percent of the 61 available units.

Only a small subset of the 31 LIWP Multi-Family projects included in this report provided tenant relocation data. Of those projects that shared relocation data, 1.2 percent of all tenants reportedly relocated as the result of lease violations. Other tenants that relocated cited a wide variety of reasons, none of which rose to the level of a meaningful trend, with over a third of the tenants declining to identify a specific reason for their relocation.

In accordance with the LIWP Multi-Family Program Guidelines, program enrollment forms and participation agreements incorporate anti-displacement and housing affordability provisions. Owners participating in the program commit to maintaining rent affordability at the property for a minimum of 10 years post weatherization, as stipulated by the terms of the LIWP Multi-Family Affordability Covenant.

B. Summary of Properties Not Regulated by Deed Restrictions

Gov. Code Section 12087.10 (b)

A summary of the total number of properties that are not regulated by deed restrictions or other legally binding provisions that are below market rate multifamily affordable housing participating in the program, the marketing and outreach efforts of the department or the appropriate administrator pursued for this market segment, and the reasons given for nonparticipation, if any.

Demand for LIWP Multi-Family funding has outpaced supply since the program's beginning. As a result, LIWP Multi-Family has historically focused on funding low-income properties with deed restrictions in place. This focus has allowed the program to leverage the long-term affordable rent covenants that deed-restricted properties possess. It also helps ensure the preservation of these affordable housing assets for low-income households. Affordable housing covenants of deed-restricted properties align with LIWP Multi-Family goals and service objectives and provide legal mechanisms for assuring property-owner compliance with the LIWP Multi-Family requirement that properties serviced under the program maintain low-income affordability for a minimum of ten years. This strategy has the benefit of helping to ensure that the substantial investments in energy efficiency and solar renewables made under LIWP Multi-Family continue to benefit low-income residents for many years after LIWP upgrades are made to a property. This also helps to ensure properties will continue to maintain affordability if the LIWP Multi-Family program component is discontinued.

Because LIWP Multi-Family has focused on serving deed-restricted affordable housing, only a small percentage of non-deed-restricted properties have received funding under the program. Of the 31 properties whose data contributed to this report, only four were non-deed restricted. Currently, eligibility for LIWP Multi-Family incentives is limited to deed-restricted properties, and the program is not enrolling non-deed-restricted properties.

LIWP Multi-Family's focus on deed-restricted properties limits program marketing and outreach to Naturally Occurring Affordable Housing multi-family properties. As a result, the department does not have data responsive to the Section 12087.10 (b) requirement to provide a summary of marketing and outreach to this marketing segment, nor data related to nonparticipation.

C. Database of Conditions Impacting Health

Gov. Code Section 12087.10 (c)

In coordination with participating public health programs, a database of conditions found in homes that impact or could impact health negatively encountered when doing energy or health audits to track neighborhood hotspots and provide data for environmental screening and social determinants of health tools.

CSD developed a dataset of conditions found in properties served by LIWP Multi-Family since 2020 that could impact health negatively and were encountered and remediated under the program. The dataset has been supplemented with social determinants of health data points for all properties served. While the scope of the dataset is inherently limited by the small scale of the LIWP Multi-Family program component, the data provides valuable on-the-ground information for improving existing environmental screening and social determinants of health tools in the multi-family affordable housing space.

The primary goal of LIWP Multi-Family is to reduce GHG emissions through deep energy efficiency retrofits. All enrolled properties undergo a technical analysis that includes energy audits to identify feasible energy efficiency and solar PV system measures. The evaluation includes detailed energy, water, health and safety, and building durability analyses to inform the development of a complete retrofit project scope (a comprehensive description of LIWP Multi-Family operations is available in the 2021 AB 1232 Report and Action Plan).

As part of this evaluation, a rigorous inspection is also conducted to evaluate the property's health and safety issues, which must be remediated before energy efficiency measures are installed. In instances where health and safety issues are identified within a property the property owner is required to remediate any outstanding issues with non-LIWP funds prior to starting construction. LIWP-funded incentives are limited to energy savings measures, while health and safety remediation is the responsibility of the property owner. Some examples of health and safety remediation issues that are the property owner's responsibility are moisture and ventilation issues, mold, and pests (see the AB 1232 Report for more details).

CSD compiled an analysis of the health and safety issues that were successfully remediated in the 31 properties analyzed in this report. It is important to note that reporting these health and safety remediations by property owners is voluntary as they are outside the scope of LIWP Multi-Family and are funded by property owners. As a result, this dataset may not capture all health and safety issues addressed prior to construction. CSD has prepared Attachment A, which provides data on the health and safety issues reported as successfully remediated at these properties.

CSD would like to recognize the important role that the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) has played in developing these datasets. CDPH assisted CSD in identifying environmental and social determinants of health for inclusion in the databases by leveraging various databases and screening tools to help develop data on the conditions present in areas where LIWP Multi-Family projects are sited.

CSD also conducted a comprehensive analysis of all 144 properties that have participated in LIWP Multi-Family since its inception to construct a Community Health Indicator dataset outlining conditions in the neighborhoods and communities where properties received energy efficiency retrofits. The environmental and social determinants of health conditions selected for inclusion have the potential to impact or indicate negative health effects encountered during energy or health audits. The dataset draws from diverse data sources related to environmental, social and health determinants. Please refer to Attachment B for the complete Community Health Indicator dataset.

For more information about best practices and approaches to integrating energy efficiency and healthy home improvements into multi-family housing, refer to CSD's 2021 AB 1232 Report and Action Plan.

CONCLUSION

This report provides valuable insights into the impact of energy upgrades on affordable housing properties under the LIWP Multi-Family program component, the number of non-deed restricted affordable housing properties in the program, and health-related conditions encountered during energy and health audits. The findings may serve as a basis for informed decision-making, policy adjustments, and targeted interventions to enhance affordability, housing quality, and community well-being.

LIWP Multi-Family has predominantly targeted deed-restricted properties as they offer the dual assurance of sustained affordability for low-income households over a mandated ten-year affordability period, as well as the preservation of affordable housing assets. Deed restrictions help ensure that the LIWP Multi-Family requirements that property owners maintain affordability for ten years will remain in place should the program no longer be funded and cease operation. As funding levels for LIWP Multi-Family shift and other strategies to enforce affordability covenants arise, CSD will remain committed to continuously refining its approach in pursuit of its dual objectives: reducing GHG emissions and supporting the long-term provision of affordable housing for underserved communities.

While CSD's dataset of 31 properties is limited by the timeframe this report was able to capture and cannot account for all factors outside the program's scope, the findings suggest that rent increases for LIWP Multi-Family properties, when they did occur, were minimal. Furthermore, while only a small sample of relocation and eviction data for LIWP Multi-Family properties is available, only about 1 percent of all tenants reported moving as a result of a lease violation, suggesting that LIWP Multi-Family investments are likely not a significant driver of tenant relocations; which instead stem from reasons beyond the program's scope or influence.

Regarding health and safety outcomes, LIWP Multi-Family functions as a low-income energy efficiency program with a primary focus on reducing GHG. The program's approach to addressing health and safety aligns with strategies detailed in the 2021 AB 1232 Report and Action Plan. Additionally, LIWP Multi-Family's emphasis on serving properties within disadvantaged communities ensures that project investments are directed towards communities disproportionately impacted by the adverse effects of various sources of pollution.

While LIWP Multi-Family provides numerous health and safety benefits to low-income tenants, the program also recognizes the value of exploring alternative strategies that incorporate additional health and environmental tools and assessments to better target multi-family projects.

Going forward, LIWP Multi-Family will continue to pursue ways to adopt new and innovative strategies for improving health and safety co-benefits for properties that receive LIWP incentives and leverage emerging opportunities to strengthen tenant protections.
